

Registration now open for 2019

Nature Innovation Challenge For Students

Challenge

Teams of 2-3 students are invited to design a healing or therapeutic space or feature located on the Ithaca Cornell Campus to promote nature in healthcare services.

Each team will choose a specific healthcare service and location for the therapeutic intervention that best supports a specific student patient population's wellbeing through connection with nature.

Background

The Cornell Institute for Healthy Futures is hosting an industry and academic Spring Roundtable titled "Nature, Health and Wellbeing," focusing on the most current and innovative research about providing access to nature in the healthcare realm.

You are invited to compete and present at the Roundtable Reception.

Timeline

April 10

One page bullet-point proposal and 10-slide (or fewer) design pitch presentation deck due

April 17

Finalists selected and notified

April 25

Finalists present to industry and academic judges

Prizes

$750 first prize

$500 second prize

$250 third prize

Contact

For competition guidelines or to register, email Nikki Cerra at hnc24@cornell.edu